Man wants but little furbelow.

Ever notice that fires comes in trion?

Light comedians get off shady jokes some times.

No use to worry, there's nothing very important after all.

The trouble with a steam heated home there's no place to opt.

Another reason for the decrease in game is said to be the automobile.

Mr. Bryan campaigned in Ohio for prohibition and then hurried out of the state to keep from hearing what the wild anti-prohibition waves were saying.

A fellow who'd wear a sport shirt ought to have some kind of premium, and we suggest that the shirt makers give a crocheted needle with each shirt next year.

The doctors have launched a movement that is more far reaching in its benefits to Dothan and humanity than any other movement ever started here. We refer to the hospital movement.

Some of the shows coming in to Alabama claiming to have fifty people when they only have about half that number, are liable to get in trouble for violating the pure advertising law.

NOTHING TO CROW OVER.

The Dothan Eagle thinks no young man should contemplate matrimony until he is "able to dress a chicken." And even then he shouldn't crow over his achievement.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Little tragedies.

The man struck a match to see if the gasoline tank on his automobile was empty.

It wasn't.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The man patted a strange bull dog to see if the critter was affectionate.

The pup wasn't.—Zanesville Signal.

The man speeded up to see if he couldn't beat the train to the station.

He couldn't.—Columbia State.

The man found the time if he didn't know it was about time to boost his ego.

He didn't.—Nashville Telegraph.

The man looked down the muzzle of a gun and saw it was not

If a dainty young thing wearing a "cut-for-wading" skirt and ankle watch should pass that way, would the Slocumb Observer? (Help, help! Call an officer!)—Opp Messenger. Yes, surely, and if Dothan was the scene it would be with an Eagle eye.—Slocumb Observer. And if it were staged in Andalusia you could look for a Star performance.

AMERICA FIRST.

(Savannah News.)

Preparedness for defense, the suppression of the hyphen and a rebuke for "every manifestation of religion and sectarian antagonism," were the principal burden of President Wilson's speech before the Manhattan Club in New York last night, a speech that in some quarters has been expected to become a very important factor in next year's presidential campaign. It is important now because it is an appeal for Americans to stand together for America. In "vindicate our right to independent and unimolested action by making the force that is in us read for exertion," to call to a reckoning the "spokesmen of small groups" who "spoke alien sympathies," and to abstain from creating religious "divisions where there are none."

The title of the address may well have been "America First." If its suggestions are carried out with the result he hopes for the country will be quiet within and face the world with strength to make its opinions have full weight. Not only will its army and navy be strengthened, but there will not be in its borders any American who forgets his duty to America and gives active allegiance to a foreign country, though professing to be loyal to her. "America first" in respect to international questions—that is the true motto of the loyal American.

ROOSTER CAPTURES RACCOON.

From the Springfield Republican
A desperate battle between two coons and two prize roosters broke the quiet of Northampton early one morning. The coons had been the object of a frenzied two-days search by the members of the Masonic street engine company, from whose large and varied menagerie of pets they had escaped. The battlefield was the fancyhenery of J. J. Kennedy on King street, and the other combatants were two of his prize roosters.

It was in the small wee hours of the morning when the two defendants sneaked around the henery door and peeped in. There, roosting in neat, orderly rows, was their breakfast. They stealthily entered. Each picked his first choice, in each case a large rooster. One spring, and things started. Round and round the struggle raged. The multiplicity of wives of each of the defendants, seeing their noble lords and masters so beset, stood on their toes, fluttering their wings and squawking. The squawks woke Mr. Kennedy who immediately hurried reinforcements.

When he arrived at the battlefield one of the roosters was horsed combat and his assailant had made good his escape. The other coon was vainly trying to, but with an infuriated rooster firmly attached to the end of his tail, even a wily coon hasn't time to think just where the door was when he came in. The proverbial bulldog has nothing on Mr. Kennedy's roosters once they get

Diamonds win out over the roads you know

It is a perpetual battle between tires and roads—and victory is hard-earned.

The strength and toughness of the rubber in Diamond Squeezee Tread Tires resists the roughest road wear—yawning ruts do not take toll from Diamond Squeezees.

Tried for years—on every road that leads in or out of this city—on all makes of cars—Diamond Squeezees have proven their unflinching superiority, and more than satisfy car owners.

We have almost discontinued making smooth treads, because the small (less than 10%) increase we ask for Squeezee treads has made Diamond Squeezes so popular that 90% of the Diamond Tires sold to consumers are Squeezee Treads.

Squeezes were put on the market because they proved to be the most satisfactory non-skid tire—tests prove that in addition to this the Squeezee construction (more rubber where the wear is hardest) makes Squeezes the best Long Distance tire at the price.

THE GOVERNOR AT THE FAIRS.

The Mobile Register is a little riled at the governor for not responding to the invitations that were sent him to attend the Gulf States Fair. The Register reads the governor a lecture for not answering and saying that he could not attend.—Montgomery Times.

Well, he was invited to come to the Dothan fair, and on the day that had been set aside as "Governor's Day," a letter was received, stating that he couldn't be here, although the invitation was extended 40 to 60 days prior.

But that he probably looked over the election returns. The first primary at Mobile, when dealing with that situation, but that couldn't have made a difference in Dothan, as this country gave him a flattering majority.

We are standing by the president in his marriage, but we will be mighty glad when the day comes. The papers are making too much of it; the football stars are not getting the space they are wont to.

Among the other well known works of fiction, you don't have to believe everything you see on a hotel register.

FORD BUYS MORE INDIANAPOLIS LAND

Indianapolis, Ind.—To increase its real estate holdings in Indianapolis for what is thought to be further development, the Ford Motor Co. has announced the purchase of ground immediately west of its plant on Southeastern Avenue.

The ground has 161 foot frontage on Southeastern Avenue, is 270 feet deep on the east side and 239 feet on the west. The ground was purchased at different times from several different owners.

Attaches of the Ford branch are refusing to say at this time what the ground is to be used for, except a general statement that it will be added to the Ford business. The present Ford building is unable to answer the demands of local business, although there is a square frontage of more than 200,000 square feet.

The Ford production for 1916 in the local branch will be more than 19,000 cars, and this will tax to the extreme the production facilities. However, it is safe to assume that this ground was acquired for building purposes and that a large addition is soon to be built to the Ford plant.

The idea of the Ford tractor is now obtaining shape, and the Ford agents are asking when this tractor will be available for selling. A. H. Smith, manager of the local Ford Branch, refuses to say anything very definite as to when the Ford tractor will be announced. However, it is understood that these Ford tractors will be assembled in Indianapolis.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mr. Airy, M. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it. Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century. Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

HE CAN'T HIDE HIS BEHIND MY VIRTUE.

Greenville, S. C., Nov. 5.—"I am not willing for my husband to hide his sins behind my virtue."

With this dramatic declaration the pretty girl wife of William Bowers, who is on trial for the killing of young Frank Wooten several months ago, explained why she had taken the stand as a witness against him. She said she saw the stabbed man sinking under a tree in her yard and that her husband had struck the fatal thrusts.

Through a rigid cross-examination she stoutly maintained that between her and the deceased there had been nothing of evil. From the viewpoint of the defense, it is evident that she may be put forward as the real cause of the tragedy and that threatened invasion may be the reason assigned for the killing. The families of both deceased and defendant are prominent.

Getting into police court is no way to protect your proud old family name.

Adam, who blamed the woman in the case, probably has had the most imitations.

Pistol and Revolver Cartridges That Are Dependable and Accurate

YOU selected your pistol or revolver because you expected it to give you results. Now, results—whether in casual shooting—or in serious work at the target—depend more than you might think on the wise choice of ammunition. It is worth remembering that the biggest men in the Pistol and Revolver classes are shooting Remington-UMC Cartridges—made for every standard make of pistol and revolver used anywhere in the world.

For the right ammunition from the sportsman's point of view, see the Remington-UMC Dealer. He displays the Red Ball Mark of Remington-UMC.
